EZRA F. BEAL'S JOURNAL

UNIVERSALIST SOCIETY LOOKS PROMISING—CROPS LOOKING GOOD—ROBINSON HOBBS FOUND HANGING IN BARN.

Edited by Don C. Seitz

May 23, 1927—Sunday and very pleasant. The last week has been cold and backward, but little has been done toward planting. The prospect is now much better for planting and doing spring's work. The peas in the Universalist church were disposed of and nearly all of them were taken, on which the taxes will be collected, amount to $200. Every thing in the Society now looks promising.

I have been over the whole Rail Road from 1. Pond to Portland with Mr. Shannley, who has directed a large amount of bridge work to be done, principally stone work. He came up from Portland and proceeded on to 1. Pond last night.

May 24—Sunday. Very fine weather and has been good weather for spring work the past week and people have nearly finished planting. Webster has planted over 7 acres in all, 3 1/2 of corn and 3 1/2 of potatoes, besides beans and carrots and the garden.

Mr. Bidwell, wife and daughter came to 1. Pond last Thursday and put up the line to Gorham to dinner on Friday and on 1. Pond at night. Mr. Corser and myself were with him.

The meeting which has been fully reported and fixed up, excepting setting the furnace, which will be done the coming week. The pews will all be taken and the taxes will be collected, amounting to $200.

It is expected that Mr. Snow can be hired for $750 and that the Paris Hill Society will employ him 1 1/2 of the time.

July 4—Sunday. Very fine and pleasant after showers all night. It was very dry and vegetation was suffering very much, but everything that grows is now in the condition and wet enough. Tomorrow is to be a great celebration at Portland and a large number will go from the country.

The stone work on Bridges is now progressing well, many of which is in a poor condition and require immediate attention. Andrews & Co. and N. P. Piper are the stone masons and Henry McFarlane is Master Carpenter.

July 10—Sunday morning and very fine weather—yesterday and for 3 or 4 days before it had been extremely hot and dry. Last night was a beautiful shower and everything looks very fine. Today Mr. Snow preaches in our Meeting House.

July 18—Sunday morning and fine weather—last night there was a fine shower.

LOVELL

The late rains did lots of good and all were glad to see it.

There was a good attendance at church, May 15, considering the weather. Rev. Mr. Clark delivered a very nice sermon.

Costly Automobiles
No matter how much or how little the purchase price of your car—it is too much to hand over to the lurking thief, or to consign to the flames. No matter what the purchase price, the cost of your car can be doubled by one accident that injures life or property.

Any automobile that is not covered by insurance can be a very costly buy. We write dependable, economical Automobile Insurance. You need Automobile Liability Insurance. We write it.

Faulty Elimination
Should Be Corrected—Good Elimination Is Essential to Good Health.

If you would be well, see to your elimination. Faulty kidney action permits toxic material to remain in the blood and upset the whole system. Then, one is apt to have a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, a toxic backache or headache, and often some irregularity of secretions, such as scanty or burning passages. More and more people are recognizing the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant, diuretic, in this condition. For more than forty years Doan's have been winning favor the country over. SUMNER Isaac Doulton has been hauling out L. Cole's dressing with Linn Farrar's horse.

The heavy rain fall of May 13 and 14, stopped all of the trucks hauling pulp and squares from the Tibbets mill, in fact the mill did not start up for that day; there was good boating upon the river meadows.

Dr. S. A. Varney and Linn Cole went to Rumford one day recently with a load of dressed veals and pigs, with Donald's truck.

Irvin Bartlett and his mother went to Mrs. Charles Russell's, May 13, for a part of the day.

Mr. Dudley, an old trapper, who lives in a camp down the valley way, reports the catch of one hundred muskrats from Labrador Pond this spring, for which he received two dollars each.

Orin Engree went to Bethel, May 15. Allie Engree recently traded some livestock for a Ford roadster, with Arlon Farrar, Allie and Lionel Bartlett have given it a good overhauling, and Allie went to the store the same day for a load of groceries.

An old fellow workman in the Oxford mill, Warren Bellows, spent Sunday afternoon, May 16, with Emerson Bartlett, Warren is a machinist.

Mr. Laggar came through from New Jersey with his car recently, to Rumford, and May 15, he took in Mr. Richards of the Continental Mill and drove down to visit Emerson Bartlett.

HANOVER

"I GOT the shock of my life the other day," said a customer, "when I looked over my floors carefully. Not only were they dull and dingy-looking, but there were numerous ugly, worn, stained spots that I had never noticed before."

Give me a gallon of that wonderful floor finish, Bay State Agate Floor Varnish before I have to spend a couple of hundred dollars replacing the floors."

Bay State Agate Floor Varnish will beautify and protect your floors better than any other varnish. It is so tough and durable that the daily kicks and scuffs of shoes, and the moving of furniture do not even mar its smoothness and lustre. It is so elastic that instead of chipping or cracking when banged, it yields without breaking the protective film.

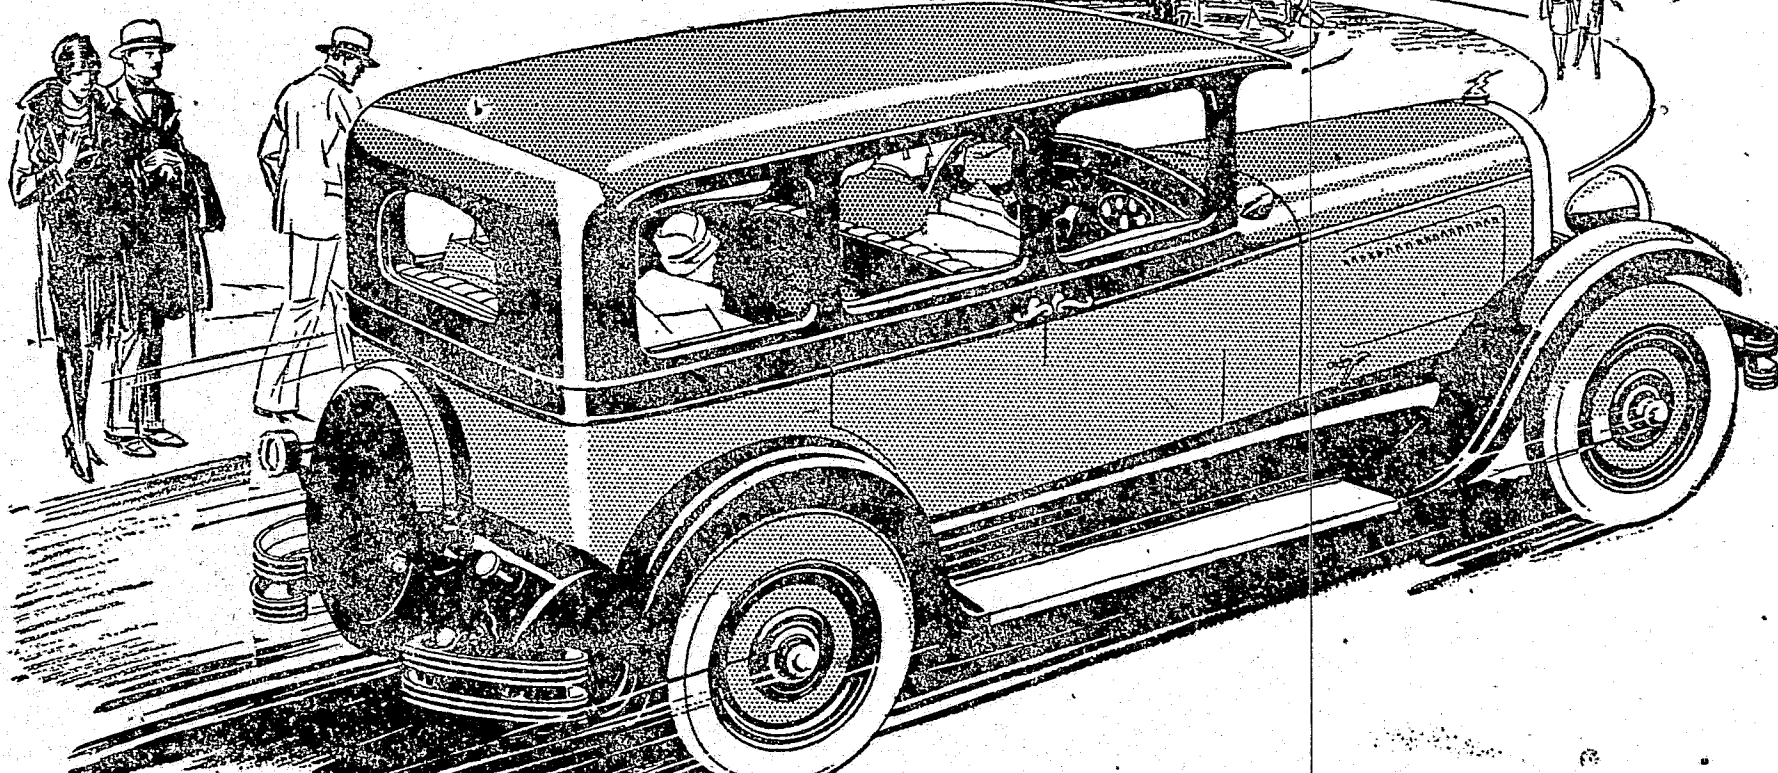

Don't put off finishing your floors. Do it, now.

More Glory for Studebaker Commander
Tests show 17 1/4 miles per gallon

Matchless endurance under sustained speed enabled Big Six to establish ten world records. And here is proof of thrifty gas mileage.

First—5000 miles in 4909 minutes—the fastest going for the greatest distance of any enclosed car in the world or any strictly stock car, open or closed.

Next, in 33 nation-wide hill-climbing contests, The Commander demonstrated its thrilling power over some of the steepest hills in the country.

17 1/4 miles per gallon!

And now—in 61 tests held all over the United States, The Commander delivered an average of 17 1/4 miles per gallon of gasoline! In every instance the carburetor was drained and connected to an accurately measured one-gallon container. Each test was carefully checked by motor club officials or newspaper representatives.

And remember, this average of 17 1/4 miles per gallon was made by a Big Six equalized in rated horsepower by only seven other American cars—and they cost from $4,000 to $10,000! No wonder the Studebaker Big Six outsells the combined total of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower.

There is a sound basis for the statement that The Commander is "the greatest post-war achievement in automotive engineering."

The feat of covering 5000 continuous miles in less than 5000 consecutive minutes merely dramatized the thrilling performance, the freedom from repair expense, the peace of mind and economy which all owners of this plus-powered car enjoy.

Drive The Commander yourself!

Get behind the wheel, step on the throttle and step out in front—try it in traffic for flexible handling—or level out the steepest hills. Any gait of travel suits The Commander—it answers instantly to the spur of its accelerator or the curb of its positive-acting 4-wheel brakes.

An exact duplicate of the champion Commander is ready and waiting for you. Come in today!

Brief Summary of General

MAINE FISH AND GAME LAWS AS AMENDED BY 1927 LEGISLATURE WHICH BECOME EFFECTIVE JULY 15, 1927

Big Game
Caribou, also cow and calf moose, protected at all times.
Bull Moose: Open season Nov. 21 to Dec. 15, inclusive. In the year 1927 only, Washington, Hancock, Aroostook, Penobscot, Piscataquis, Somerset, Waldo and Lincoln counties only. Limit one bull moose.

Close season on bull moose in all other counties.

Deer
No close season, in territory open to hunting.

Limit on Deer Yearly limit one deer only to one person (no restriction as to sex). Consult latest law book for list of territory closed to hunting, transportation law, etc.

Deer
Deer cannot be sold or given away, except as a gift to be taken or shipped out of Maine.
A resident of Maine cannot carry or transport any deer out of the state.

Fur-Bearing Animals
No closed season on the following fur-bearing animals: bears, bobcats, lynx, weasels, ermine, muskrats, and minks, (except in territory closed to all hunting).

Beaver: No open season except when declared by Commissioner upon complaint of timberland owners of actual damage done to their property. Trappers, however, must procure $25 beaver trapping license, to trap on territory thus opened.
Beaver skins must be sealed by Commissioner or his agent before transportation or traffic is legal.

Muskrat: Open season in Androscoggin, Cumberland, York, Sagadahoc, Kennebec, Lincoln, Waldo and Knox, Dec. 1st to Apr. 30th, inclusive.

Open season on muskrat in Washington, Hancock, Aroostook, Penobscot, Piscata-quis, Franklin, Somerset and Oxford, Nov.
1st to May 15th, inclusive.

Fox: Open season Oct. 16th to Feb.
14th, inclusive, in Aroostook, Penobscot, Washington, Hancock, Piscataquis, Somerset, Franklin and Oxford.

Open season on foxes in eight southern counties: Androscoggin, Cumberland, York, Sagadahoc, Kennebec, Lincoln, Waldo and Knox, Nov. 1st to Feb. 14th, inclusive. (Digging out of fox dens prohibited at all times.)

Nov. 1st to Feb. 14th, inclusive, is open season on all other fur bearing animals, (which includes among others, foxes, raccoons and skunks) in all counties (in territory open to hunting, trapping, and government by the general trapping laws).

(Consult 1927-28 edition of Inland Fisheries and Game Laws for Special Laws on Fur-Bearing Animals).

October, November, December, January and February: Open season in Androscoggin, Sagadahoc and York Counties: open season in the remaining counties: October, November, December, January, February and March.

Dead rabbits cannot be shipped or taken out of state, except a licensed non-resident who has legally killed rabbits in open season may transport same to his home under his hunting license.

Over Squids: Open season, October; perpetual closed season, however, in all public and private parks, and within the limits of the compact or built-up portion of any city or village.

Sunday and Night Hunting All Sunday and night hunting prohibited, except night hunting for skunks and raccoons, with dog and gun, is legal from Oct. 1st of each year to Dec. 15th, following, both days inclusive.

Hunting with automobile or jack light illegal. Unlawful to carry loaded rifle or shotgun in an automobile, or carriage in magazine thereof.

Game Birds
Partridge and Woodcock: Open season during October and November.
Ducks, Brant and Geese, Coots, Gallinules, and Jacksnipe or Wilson Snipe.
Open season September 16 to December 31, inclusive.

There is no open season on the Bartramian sandpiper, or upland Plover, in spite of the fact that a bag limit on plover is printed on the back of a hunting license.
This statement is made by the Biological Survey of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Birds Protected at All Times
All wild birds, other than game birds:
The law provides, however, that the English or European House Sparrow, crows, hawks, owls, and kingfishers may be killed at any time. The law further provides that eagles, Hungarian partridge, caper-calkie, cock of the woods, black game, curlew, woodcock, swans and all shore birds except Wilson or Jacksnipe and Woodcock, and all species of pheasants (except ruffed grouse) are protected at all times.

Motor boats cannot be used for hunting sea birds, ducks, or water fowl in any land or tidal waters of Maine.

Stationary blinds unlawful in Mery-meeting Bay waters.

Dogs must not be used in hunting deer.
Unlawful to use silencers on firearms.
Unlawful to buy or sell game birds at any time.

Non-resident to hunt prior to deer season, $5; to hunt deer and other wild animals (except caribou and moose) and birds during deer season, $15. (A $5 license may be exchanged for a $15 license upon payment of $10.) Moose hunting license $25. A $5 bird license may be exchanged for a moose license by paying $20 additional and a $15 (deer) license may be exchanged for a moose license by paying $10 additional.

Non-Residents Must Employ Guides All non-residents, when in unorganized or unincorporated townships, must be in charge of a registered guide during the months of May to November, inclusive, at all times while hunting or while fishing, if camping or killing fires thereon.
Note following exceptions: (Non-resident fishermen who are camping within the limits of public camp sites maintained by the Maine Forest Service, or who are building campfires in the fire places provided by the Maine Forest Service on such camp sites are not required to be in charge of a registered guide.) No Hunter With Fire Arm or Fire Arms in Possession Can Camp in Any Game Preserve or Sanctuary No guide can guide or be employed at the same time by more than five non-residents in hunting.

Resident Licenses Unnaturalized foreign born residents of Maine who have not lived in the State two years continuously, prior to the time they desire to hunt, and who are not taxpayers upon real estate in Maine, must procure a $15 hunting license before they can hunt or carry firearms. All other residents of Maine must procure a 25 cent

Maine's Turn Will Come

In turn each section of the United States has enjoyed a period of rapid development. For a time a greater part of the nation's capital, and much from foreign countries was employed in building up the Middle Western States. Then the prairie states had their turn and attracted both capital and population. Then came the rapid development of the Pacific Coast states. For a time a decade California, Washington and Oregon engaged attention and became the center of interest for capital. Right now the Southern states are having their day. Florida has made rapid progress and is likely to continue to advance in both wealth and population. The other Southern states are making great strides in industrial development, bringing about the investment of millions of dollars and a great change in the character of its population. When this Southern "boom" has nearly reached its peak, then capital is likely to seek new fields and it is probable that New England will then come in for its period of rapid expansion and growth. At the time when this change comes about Maine will be likely to make great strides because it has many opportunities and some natural advantages which the other New England states lack.

With the increase in foreign competition for the world's markets American manufacturers whose plants are in the center of the country, must seek the coast from whose harbors they can ship their products, without heavy charges for railroad transportation. Where there is an abundance of hydro-electric power to be obtained and where the finest of harbors are to be found, American manufacturers must find the sites for their plants. Maine offers both advantages, cheap hydro-electric power, and an abundance of it, and as good harbors as any to be found on this continent.

Already there are many signs to warrant the belief that the rapid development of New England is approaching. In the first place there has been an awakening of its people manifested in the formation of the New England Council, and the shaking off of the self-complacent attitude which has chiefly been responsible for some of the industrial backsliding which has been taking place. Then there are the establishment of new enterprises in various parts of the New England states brought about by the recognition of the superior facilities this section of the United States offers to those who are competing for a place in the world's markets. Steady progress is also being made in highway construction, in the improvement of recreational opportunities, in plans for general publicity and organized effort to protect and extend basic industries. All of these things are tending to hasten the day of New England's rejuvenation. It has little need of appealing to other sections of the country or to foreign countries for capital because it possesses enough of its own. For years New England capital has been employed in promoting the development of other parts of the country. The time cannot be far away when this capital will find opportunities for profit nearer home.

SPENT
Yes, the war is over for most of us, but it is over for everyone? How about the men in the hospitals? Many of them have been there ever since the war, many of them will never leave the hospitals. These men enlisted in the prime of life—they had their aspirations, some were in the midst of college courses when their country called; they were studying to be doctors, lawyers, engineers; others had just started out in business for themselves; most of them were wage earners, and now they spend their days in the hospitals throughout the land. They are not downhearted—the atmosphere of cheerfulness pervades the Government hospitals, and facing this disappointment in the fulfillment of their dreams, they still can smile.
These are our heroes! Must we have the trend of marching feet, the cheers of the watching throngs to recognize them?
We cheered them when they marched away, we cheered them when they came back to us—who cheers them now?
The American Legion and other service organizations are cheering them through their service programs. The Government is doing a great deal for these men—good hospitals are provided and excellent care is given them, but the moral part on the back, the Government is not in a position to give—that must come from the outside.
And thus the army of those who have not forgotten the men who tried to save the thoughtfulness for the service men and women in the hospitals.

Birthdays are not forgotten, Christmas is a big day in the hospitals, Easter and Mother's Day carry with them greetings from those who are remembering.
This service program is carried into the homes to the little mother trying to keep the family together while the father is in the hospital—to the discouraged service man who is just out of the hospital and trying to make a new start in life. Just as the comrades on the battlefields helped one another, so now in the battles of life the Legion men extend this hand of comradeship.

The vision of the Legion and Auxiliary goes still further—it sees the handicap of the children whose father fell or whose father is still in the hospital. Just as the comrades on the battlefields helped
one another, so now in the battles of life
the Legion men extend this hand of comradeship.

This service program of the American Legion costs large sums of money, and as the Government generally provides for the hospitals and maintenance, so the income from the Legion Endowment Fund will take care of the big items in the Leg-ion's permanent service work, but the legal and temporary service work must be carried on by the Posts and Units.
Each year The American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary hold a poppy sale with its double mission—to remind the public that the war is not yet over for many, and to raise funds for local relief work for the service men and women and their families. All over the land, May 28, National Poppy Day, the little red poppy of The American Legion and Auxiliary will breathe to you its message—

BUY ME—I stand for service. I enabled one cent to be earned by a discontented service man in the hospital who needed it, and all you pay goes for service for those for whom the war is not yet over. BUY ME!
WEAR ME—I represent the sacrificial blood of the men who fell on Flanders Fields. I am a memorial to all who died in service. In reverence and understanding WEAR ME!

SPENT
Yes, the war is over for most of us, but it is over for everyone? How about the men in the hospitals? Many of them have been there ever since the war, many of
men enlisted in the prime of life—they
had their aspirations, some were in the midst of college courses when their country called; they were studying to be
doctors, lawyers, engineers; others had
just started out in business for themselves; most of them were wage earners,
and now they spend their days in the hospitals throughout the land. They are not downhearted—the atmosphere of cheerfulness pervades the Government hospitals,
and facing this disappointment in the fulfillment of their dreams, they still can smile.
These are our heroes! Must we have
the trend of marching feet, the cheers of
the watching throngs to recognize them?
We cheered them when they marched
back to us—who cheers them now?
The American Legion and other service organizations are cheering them through their
doing a great deal for these men—good
hospitals are provided and excellent care
back, the Government is not in a position
to give—that must come from the outside.
forgotten the men who tried to save the
thoughtfulness for the service men and women in the hospitals.

Birthdays are not forgotten, Christmas
is a big day in the hospitals, Easter and Mother's Day carry with them greetings
from those who are remembering.
This service program is carried into the
the family together while the father is in
the hospital—to the discouraged service
man who is just out of the hospital and
as the comrades on the battlefields helped
one another, so now in the battles of life
the Legion men extend this hand of comradeship.

The vision of the Legion and Auxiliary goes still further—it sees the handicap of
the children whose father fell or whose
father is still in the hospital. Just as
the comrades on the battlefields helped
one another, so now in the battles of life
the Legion men extend this hand of comradeship.

This service program of the American
the Government generally provides for the
hospitals and maintenance, so the income from the Legion Endowment Fund
will take care of the big items in the Leg-ion's permanent service work, but the legal and temporary service work must be carried on by the Posts and Units.
Each year The American Legion and
the American Legion Auxiliary hold a poppy sale with its double mission—to remind the public that the war is not yet
over for many, and to raise funds for local relief work for the service men and
women and their families. All over the land, May 28, National Poppy Day, the
little red poppy of The American Legion
and Auxiliary will breathe to you its message—

BUY ME—I stand for service. I enabled one cent to be earned by a discontented service man in the hos-
goes for service for those for whom
the war is not yet over. BUY ME!
WEAR ME—I represent the sacrificial blood of the men who fell on Flanders Fields. I am a memorial
to all who died in service. In reverence and understanding WEAR ME!
